Key Value Drivers

Technology*: HealthCare Interactive is leading developer of Internet-based and video training programs for professional and family caregivers of those with dementia.

Competitive Advantage: HCI's training programs connect the educational needs of caregivers with creative uses of interactive multimedia and video technology. Programs are available 24/7 and can be completed in the privacy of your own home. Our products encourage a healthier dynamic between caregivers and care recipients by helping caregivers manage the demands of dementia progression and care burden.

Plan & Strategy: HCI is actively marketing its pipeline products through a nationwide sales rep program (www.memoryLossDVD.com/join), a nationwide co-branding agreement with the Alzheimer's Association (www.alz.org), and online distributors such as amazon.com.

We are seeking strategic partnerships in both the public and private sectors.

*Technology funded by NIH and internal efforts, and is being commercialized under the NIH-CAP
