Content focus:
- Catastrophic event training based on actual case-study events, including HAZMAT & emergency response; incident command; and other first responders (firefighters, law enforcement, et al)

Management

Leadership:
Thomas H. Held, President and CEO, MetaMedia Training International, Inc.
Donna L. Lynn, President, MetaMedia Publishing, LLC.

Subject Matter Experts:
- Co-owners of HazMatIQ LLC: Cris Aguirre, senior HAZMAT technician for Miami Dade Fire and Rescue, and Joe Gorman, senior HAZMAT technician (retired) for Fairfax County, VA, Fire and Rescue.
- Lenny Jachimowicz, Vice President, Engineering, Marriott International.

Key Value Drivers

Technology*: Advanced technologies applied to multimedia interactive training (eLearning, mLearning, DVD). Scenario-based “lessons-learned” training depicting real events for worker health, safety, and disaster mitigation. Funded by NIEHS via the Worker Education and Training Programs (WETP).

Competitive Advantage:
- MetaMedia leverages the latest technologies to deliver interactive training content. First to deliver mobile training on Sony PlayStation Portable (PSP).
- Ten years in-depth experience developing hazmat and occupational health & safety training.
- Fully-integrated in-house capabilities.

Plan and Strategy:
- Leverage government funding for training content development
- Transition into commercially feasible stand-alone content
- Leverage partnerships to develop professional content (e.g., Marriott & HazMatIQ)
- Leverage partnerships to apply advanced technologies (e.g., Sony)

*Technology funded by NIEHS and being commercialized under the NIH-CAP
